

Dear colleagues,

Universidade da Coruña is organising an International Summer School in the city of Iasi, Romania, from 4 to 22 May 2015, in cooperation with Universitatea Tehnica Gherghe Asachi din Iasi.

<http://www.iss.udc.es/courses/udc-tuiasi-international-summer-school>

This is an innovative experience in the framework of the successful Universidade da Coruña's International Summer School (www.iss.udc.es).

The topic of this particular course in Iasi will be related to project management and engineering/architecture.

We would like to invite you to submit proposals for short teaching modules in English of a minimum of 8 hours of teaching to be taught in the framework of this International Summer School. The topics should be of general interest to students of technical degrees, and at an advanced undergraduate or initial master level.

Universidade da Coruña, in cooperation with Universitatea Tehnica Gherghe Asachi din Iasi, will help selected teachers obtain Erasmus funding from their home universities, and assist with accommodation in case of need.

Applicants should send a short narrative CV (max 200 words) and a short description of the proposed module (max 200 words).

For additional information or informal enquiries you may contact the coordinator of the ISS, Dr Diego Varela, at dvarela@udc.es.

Best regards,

Diego Varela
